Olivet cemetery near her home. Funeral services were conducted by Revs. C. M. Smith and J. A. Curtis. The Bradford Undertaking Company had charge of the burial, six nephews acting as pall bearers.

Corilla E. Spilman daughter of the late John J. and Laura A. Spilman was born in Lawrence County, Missouri, March 17, 1856; was married to Milton J. Needham August 28, 1881; and departed this life October 8, 1920 at the age of 64 years, 6 months, and 21 days.

No children were born to this union but they raised two orphan boys; Frank Needham who now resides at Joplin, Mo., and Charles Algert who preceded her in death.

She professed faith in Christ in early womanhood and united with the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church of which she was a faithful, conscientious member until death. For more than two score years she served her Master working for the reward she has now gone to receive.

In early life Mrs. Needham was one of the country's most successful school teachers, teaching in Lawrence, Newton and Jasper Counties.

In 1892, she, with her husband who was also a teacher, entered the Indian Training Service and spent twelve years among the Navajo Indians of Arizona, meanwhile doing missionary work in connection with her school work.

Providence has left her childless that the many children whom she has helped to rear remember her as Mother.

She leaves, besides her husband and foster child, two brothers, two sisters and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her departure.

Mrs. Needham has gone but her works remain with us as a monument to the life she lived.
